Horst Construction Announces new President and Chief Executive Officer

Lancaster, PA — Horst Construction has promoted Harry Scheid to the role of President and Chief Executive Officer, Horst Construction. Scheid assumes his new role after serving as Vice President/Chief Operating Officer of Horst Excavating, a division of Horst Construction. Scheid brings 30 years of construction experience and 10 years of executive management background to Horst Construction, a growing business focusing on commercial/industrial, senior living, church, private education and alternative energy construction projects.

Bruce Rogers was also recently hired as Director of Commercial Sales, Horst Construction. Rogers has an extensive background in construction sales, most recently as Vice President-Business Development, Harbor View Construction, Baltimore, MD.

Horst Excavating provides site and utility work and performs these services for a comprehensive range of projects, including schools, parks, residential, commercial and industrial clients. Horst Excavating has also recently promoted personnel:

Gary Rineer was promoted to Director of Operations, Horst Excavating, from his position as Chief Estimator, Horst Excavating. Rineer will assume responsibility for all daily operations of the growing Excavating and Site Work contractor, bringing over 27 years in field, estimating and project management experience to his new responsibilities.

Scott Thomas was promoted to Chief Estimator, Horst Excavating. Thomas has over 19 years in field and estimating experience, most recently serving as Estimator, Horst Excavating.

Working to help clients achieve their vision since the 1880s, Horst Construction, located at 320 Granite Run Drive, Lancaster, PA, provides construction management, design/build and general contracting services in the Northeast region including projects in PA, NJ, MD, DE and NC. The company employs over 200 skilled trades workers, management and administrative team members in Central PA. Horst Construction is part of the Horst Group, and specializes in industrial/commercial buildings, senior living facilities, hospitality and non-profit construction such as churches and faith-based education.
